MEMORANDUM.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF "LICENSING OFFICERS."

No. P. 4115—Legis. 46-34, dated 26*th December* 1935.

1. On and from 1st January 1936, taxes on motor vehicles are levied under the provisions of the Road Traffic and Taxes Regulation and of the rules and orders issued thereunder. This explanatory memorandum showing the nature of taxes leviable on different classes of vehicles and the procedure for the collection of the same is issued for the guidance of the "Licensing Officers" i.e., officers empowered to collect taxes. The officers should, however, study the Regulation very carefully and acquaint themselves with its provisions, especially definitions of the different classes of vehicles, the details of taxes leviable on them and conditions to which this levy is subject. They should also acquaint themselves with the notifications and orders issued under the Regulation The pamphlet "Mysore Motor Vehicles Tax Rules" sent herewith contains, in a consolidated form, all these rules and should be studied very carefully.

2. The following statement shows, in a tabulated form, the taxes leviable on each class of motor vehicles :—

Class of Vehicles	Nature of Taxes	Schedule of Taxation	Basis of Taxation
1. Motor cycles	Vehicle Tax ...	II A. ...	Per vehicle
2. Motor cars	Do ...	Do ...	Unladen weight
3. Private motor lorries — (a) used solely for purposes of agriculture.	Do ...	Do ...	Per vehicle
(b) Lorries other than (a) above.	Road Tax ...	II B. ...	Unladen weight
VEHICLES LET OR PLIED FOR HIRE.
4. Motor cabs	Service Tax ...	II C ...	Seating capacity
5. Motor buses	(i) Service tax and	II C ...	Do
	(ii) Mileage Cess.	II D ...	On miles likely to be traversed
6. Motor lorries	Road Tax ...	II B ...	Unladen weight

How to ascertain the Taxes due.

I. PRIVATE VEHICLES.

3. (i) The tax on private motor bicycles and on motor cars constructed or adapted to carry 8 persons or more is a lumpsum rate per vehicle. There is therefore no difficulty in collecting the charges due.

(ii) In regard to private motor cars and motor lorries, the taxes on which are to be assessed on the unladen weight, the licensing officers are supplied with a list showing the unladen weights of the different makes of these classes of motor vehicles arranged in alphabetical order. From the declaration of the person tendering the tax and the Registration Certificate (vide Rules 7 and 8 of the Mysore Motor Vehicles Tax Rules), the licensing officer will be able to ascertain the particular make and class of the vehicle; in cases of doubt, a personal inspection will give the information; a reference to the list of unladen weights will give the unladen weight of the vehicle. A reference to the schedule of taxes (Appendix IV to Mysore Motor Vehicles Tax Rules) will give the tax that is to be collected on that class of vehicle. For instructions as to how to act if the details of the unladen weight are not to be found in the list, please see Rule 9 (v) of the Tax Rules.

(iii) Motor lorries used solely for purposes of agriculture are liable to a "Vehicle Tax" and not to the "Road Tax" to which other lorries are subject. Great care is to be exercised in classing any motor lorry as that used solely for agricultural purposes. A motor lorry is said to be used solely for agricultural purposes when it is engaged solely and exclusively in agricultural operations such as carriage of manure, implements, etc., to and from the fields. A motor lorry used for transporting agricultural produce along any public road shall not be deemed to be used solely for purposes of agriculture. The duty of deciding whether a lorry is used solely for agricultural purposes devolves on the District Magistrates. It is only on an authority from these officers that a lorry must be treated as used solely for agricultural purposes and taxed accordingly.

II. PUBLIC SERVICE VEHICLES.

4. The service tax due in respect of motor cabs and buses, and the Road Tax due in respect of motor lorries should be collected in accordance with the details given in the "Authority" of the District Magistrate [vide Rule 10]. The duty of treasury officers in this respect is to collect taxes as given in this authority.

5. The officers in charge of treasuries are Licensing Officers for the collection of—

(a) Vehicle Tax,
(b) Road Tax on private motor lorries and motor lorries let for hire,
(c) Service Tax on motor cabs, buses, etc.

Mileage cess will, as at present, continue to be dealt with by the District Magistrates.

Grant of Licenses.

6. Two separate forms of licenses are supplied.

(i) One of these, green in colour, bearing serially progressive numbers from 00001 onwards and expiring on 30*th June* 1936 is for "Vehicle Tax."

(ii) The other, blue in colour, bearing serial number C. 1 onwards and expiring on 31st March is for Road Taxes on lorries and Service Tax on motor cabs and buses.

(iii) The forms of licenses and the items printed on them are the same in both classes of licenses.

Licensing officers should be careful and issue the proper license in each case.

(iv) No separate license need be issued for mileage cess. This will continue to be received by the District Magistrates under the same rules and procedure as at present.

For details of the custody of license books, preparation of licenses, grant of licenses to parties, etc., please see Rules 3 to 13 of the Mysore Motor Vehicles Tax Rules.

Exemption from Tolls.

7. The licensing officers should acquaint themselves thoroughly with the exemption from tolls granted to different classes of vehicles, and enter the item "No tolls at....." in the license correctly. The following shows, in a tabulated form, the exemptions from tolls :—

Class of vehicles 1	Exempt from 2	Subject to 3
(i) Private motor cycles, cars, etc.	All municipal tolls	Government tolls except when they compound for all tolls.
(ii) Motor lorries used solely for purposes of agriculture.	Do	Government tolls at all toll-gates.
(iii) Motor lorries other than (ii) above.	(i) The toll of the Municipality as per proviso I-C to Sch. II-B of the Regulation. (ii) Government tolls in the area noted in the permit.	Municipal tolls, other than (i) of column 2 for this item. Government tolls beyond the area specified in the permit.
(iv) Motor cabs ...	The tolls of the Municipality as per proviso 3 to Sch. II-C to the Regulation.	Municipal tolls other than (i) under heading Exempt of column 2 for this item. Government tolls except when they compound for all tolls under Section 20.
v) Motor buses ...	(i) Do ... (ii) All tolls in the area for which they have the permit.	All tolls outside the area permitted.

NOTE.—The exemption from Government tolls above specified does not apply to toll-gates specified in Section 20 and Schedule V of the Regulation.

Particulars of toll-gates at which the vehicle is exempted should be specially mentioned under the column "No tolls" (vide instructions in Appendix II to Tax Rules). Private motor cycles, motor cabs and motor cars may compound for all State Fund and District Fund tolls by the payment of a quarterly composition fee on the basis of the unladen weight of the vehicle. This composition fee is to be collected by the Licensing Officers and tokens issued. These tokens (vide Appendix III to the Motor Vehicle Tax Rules) are on white paper with the quarter printed in red ink.

For detailed rules, attention is invited to (Rules 6 to 14 and 23 to 26), Part II of the Mysore Motor Vehicles Tax Rules.

PRESS COMMUNIQUE.

THE ROAD TRAFFIC AND TAXES REGULATION.

No. P. 4101—Legis. 46-35, dated 26th December 1935.

The following communique, explaining briefly some of the principal provisions of the Road Traffic and Taxes Regulation, is issued for the information of the public :—

(1) From the date the Regulation comes into force, viz., 1st January 1936, every motor vehicle used or kept for use in Mysore is subject to taxes detailed in paras 2 to 10 below. No motor vehicle shall be used on any public road unless the taxes have been paid and a license obtained.

Failure to pay the tax is an offence punishable with a fine of Rs. 50. The tax may be recovered as though it is a fine or an arrear of land revenue and the vehicle and accessories may be distrained and sold in whosoever's possession they may be.

(2) The taxes payable in respect of motor vehicles are as follows :—

I. Private motor vehicles.

(i) Every private motor cycle and motor car is subject to a "Vehicle Tax," payable half-yearly or annually.

(ii) The vehicle tax on motor cycles is Rs. 15 per year or Rs. 7-8-0 per half-year.

(iii) On motor cars the tax is leviable on the basis of unladen weight as follows :—

	Rate for half-year. Rs.
(a) Motor Cars weighing not more than 15 cwts. ...	12
(b) Do weighing more than 15 cwts. but not more than 40 cwts., unladen	18
(c) Do weighing 40 cwts. more than in weight unladen, called Heavy motor cars	50
(d) Motor cars constructed or adapted to carry eight persons or more including the driver (known popularly as private motor buses) other than those falling under item (c) above.	30

(4) Cars, popularly known as "Baby cars," mostly fall under class (a) viz., those weighing not more than 15 cwts. as for example, Baby Austin, Austin, Ten four; Ford, Model Y. 8. H. P., Tudor, Fordor; Morris-minor, Opel 4 cylinder Tourer and Sedan, Singer, 9 H.P. tourer, Standard "little nine", Triumph 8 H.P. 4 Cylinder, etc.

(5) Most of the cars in use belong to class (b) above, viz., those of the unladen weight of more than 15 cwts. as for example, Austin cars, other than those specified in para 4, Buick, Chevrolet, Fiat, Ford, Morris-Oxford, Morris-Cowley, Standard, (other than those specified) Oldsmobile, Studebeker, Terraplane, etc.

6. From the date this Regulation comes into force, no municipal vehicle tax is payable on any motor vehicle.

7. Tolls.—Private motor cycles and motor cars which pay a vehicle tax are exempt from all municipal tolls in the State. They are, however, subject to tolls at toll-gates on State Fund and District Fund roads and bridges. The owners of these vehicles may, at their option, compound for such tolls throughout the State (except those on the bridges on the Cauvery and the Kabini at T.-Narsipur, on the Hemavati at Akkihebbal at Gorur and on the Dam at Krishnarajasagara) by the payment of a quarterly composition fee at the following rates :—

	Quarterly. Rs.	a.	p.
Motor cycles	5	0	0
Do with side car	7	8	0.
Motor cars weighing not more than 15 cwts. unladen ...	15	0	0
Do weighing more than 15 cwts. but not more than 30 cwts. unladen and so on	20	0	0

This fee may be paid for the whole official year in advance in which case a rebate of 10 per cent is allowed. This annual composition comes into force from 1st July 1936.

(ii) Composition of tolls at a single toll-gate other than a frontier toll-gate, is also allowed in respect of a motor cycle or a motor car, not exceeding 30 cwts. in weight unladen and not constructed or adapted to carry more than seven persons, subject to an annual fee of Rs. 15 and Rs. 30 per annum respectively.

8. Private Motor Lorries.—(i) Private lorries are subject to a "road tax" based on the unladen weight of the vehicle. The rate is, on some typical lorries, as follows :—

	Rs.
(a) Motor Lorries exceeding 15 cwts. but not exceeding 25 cwts. unladen	50 per quarter
(b) Motor Lorries exceeding 25 cwts. but not exceeding 30 cwts. unladen	70 ,,
(c) Motor Lorries exceeding 30 cwts. but not exceeding 35 cwts. unladen	90 ,, and so on according to unladen weight.

A higher rate is leviable in every case if the vehicle is not fitted on all wheels with pneumatic tyres.

(ii) Motor lorries are not subject to any Municipal Vehicle Tax. They are free from tolls of the Municipality within the limits of which the owner resides or carries on the business in respect of which the vehicle is used. If the owner does not reside in any municipality, he may get exemption from the tolls of the nearest municipality within a radius of 5 miles

(iii) The annual re-registration of motor lorries now in force is abolished. All motor lorries will in future be subject to the first or initial registration fee. Lorries already registered prior to the date of the Regulation coming into force are not liable to any further registration from the 1st of January 1936.

(iv) No motor lorry should be used on a road without a permit to be obtained from the District Magistrate. It is an offence to use the lorry without this permit. The permit prescribes the area in which the lorry is normally to work, though casual journeys outside the area are permitted. The District Magistrate has to take into account the nature, the extent and the requirements of the business on which the lorry is to be used in fixing the conditions such as the area or the class of goods to be carried.

(v) In the area covered by the permit, motor lorries are free of tolls on State Fund and District Fund Roads. Beyond this area they are liable to tolls.

(vi) Motor lorries used solely for agricultural purposes are liable to a "vehicle tax" of Rs. 30 per half-year. Any motor lorry which is used for the transport of agricultural produce along a public road shall not be considered to be used solely for agricultural purposes. Only those vehicles which are used solely for operations connected with agriculture and are not used for other purposes or for transport of produce, will fall under this class.

The owner has to satisfy the District Magistrate on this point, as it is only on his permit that a lorry will be charged this rate.

II. Public Service Motor Vehicles, i.e., Motor Vehicles let or plied for hire or reward.

9. Motor cabs.—(i) are subject to a Service Tax payable quarterly on the basis of the number of seats, one seat for the driver being free ;

(ii) are free of tolls of the Municipality at which the owner resides or carries on his business. If neither of these places is within the limits of a Municipality, the vehicle will be free of tolls at the nearest Municipality within a radius of five miles;

(iii) are subject to tolls at other Municipalities;

(iv) are subject to tolls on State Fund and District Fund Roads. They may, like private cars, compound for all these tolls by the payment of a quarterly composition fee, vide para above.

10. Motor buses.—

(i) Motor buses are liable to—

(a) a quarterly service tax based on the registered number of seats on the bus, two seats—one for the driver and the other for the conductor, being free of tax and (b) a mileage cess.

NOTE.—Motor buses plying solely within the Bangalore City Municipal area are exempt from the mileage cess

(ii) These buses are free of all tolls, Municipal and Government, in the area for which they hold the permit.

11. Motor lorries let or plied for hire.—

(i) are subject to a road tax at 1½ times the rate prescribed for the corresponding class of private lorries;

(ii) Sub-paras (ii) and (v) of rule 8 re private motor lorries apply to these also.

12. Where to pay the tax.—All Treasury Officers and the Superintendent of Police, Kolar Gold Fields are appointed "Licensing Officers" for the purpose of collecting taxes and granting licenses. The tax may be paid at any Government Treasury during working hours and license obtained. In the Kolar Gold Fields area, the tax is to be paid at the Bank of Mysore at Oorgaum to the credit of the Dewan's Deposit Account at Bangalore. On production of the receipt from the Bank, the District Superintendent of Police, Kolar Gold Fields will grant the license.

13. How to pay the tax.—(i) Every person tendering a tax will take the vehicle to the taxing office and fill up a declaration form in duplicate giving details of the vehicle.

(ii) He will also produce the certificate of Registration in which the tax paid has to be entered, according to the Regulation.

(iii) A new Registration certificate to suit this will be brought into force from about the third week of February. The owners of the vehicles will have to get this new form from the Inspector-General of Police before the taxes for the next quarter or half year, as the case may be, fall due. Licenses will not in subsequent periods be issued without this certificate.

(iv) Instructions have been issued to the Licensing officers not to delay the issue of the license in the 1st quarter or the half-year commencing with the 1st of January 1936 for want of a registration certificate. The persons tendering the taxes are advised to present the current registration certificate, as it would save delay and inconvenience to them and would enable them to fill up the declaration forms referred to sub para (i) above easily.

14. Licenses.—(i) On the tax due being collected, the Licensing Officer will issue a license. It is obligatory under the Regulation to carry this license on the vehicle in such manner as is prescribed by the Government. The Government have notified in Notification No. P. 3812—Legis. 46-35, dated 11th December 1935, published in the Mysore Gazette of 12th December 1935 that the license is to be carried on the vehicle either on the glass portion of the windscreen or in a weather-proof metal license-holder as prescribed therein in a conspicuous position so as to be clearly visible at all times by daylight to a person standing at the near (left) side of the vehicle, whether such a vehicle is moving or stationary. Failure to carry the license thus, is an offence punishable with fine which may extend to Rs. 50.

(ii) Every person in charge of a vehicle on a public road shall stop any vehicle and cause it to remain stationary when required to do so by any officer of the Traffic Board or any Police Officer in uniform. Any person failing to stop a motor vehicle when required to do so by any officer specified above will render himself liable to a fine which may extend to Rs. 50.

(iii) Vehicles exempt from taxes should obtain from licensing officers a license exempting them from the tax which should also be carried on the vehicle like other licenses.

15. Vehicles out of use—(i) Derelict vehicles.—The owners of vehicles which are permanently unfit for use should get the registration certificates in respect of them cancelled as taxes will be due on the vehicles as long as the Registration certificate is in force.

(ii) Vehicles out of use for temporary periods.—Taxes in the first instance must be paid in respect of all such vehicles.

16. Refunds.—(i) No refund of vehicle tax is allowed, even if the vehicle in respect of which it is paid is not used during the whole or any part of the period for which the tax has been paid.

(ii) A refund of Road Tax on motor lorries and of Service Tax on motor cabs and motor buses is allowed if the vehicle is not in use during the whole of the quarter or any continuous period thereof not being less than one calendar month, subject to the conditions notified in notification No. P. 3896—Legis. 46-35, dated 16th December, published in Part IV of the Mysore Gazette, of the 19th December. The license and the permit should be surrendered to the Inspector-General of Police immediately the vehicle gets out of use, together with an intimation as to the reason for the vehicle being out of use and the period it is likely to remain out of use.

(iii) Before the vehicle is again put in to use, the license and the permit should be obtained.

(iv) Refunds may, at the discretion of the officer, be granted at the following scale :—

	Amount to be refunded
(i) When the vehicle has not been used during the whole quarter.	Four-fifths of the tax paid
(ii) When the vehicle has not been used for a period not less than two continuous calendar months during the quarter but less than the whole quarter.	Three-fifths of the tax paid
(iii) When the vehicle has not been used for periods not less than one calendar month and less than two complete calendar months during the quarter.	Two-fifths of the tax paid

The following extracts from the report on the work of the Indian Section of the British Consulate at Baghdad for the year 1934 is published for general information:—

XI.—Iraq Residence Law.

In the course of 1934 the Iraqi authorities manifested their intention of applying strictly the provisions of the Iraq Residence Law, which makes it incumbent on foreigners entering 'Iraq to Register themselves at police headquarters of the District in which they reside within 15 days of their arrival. In the case of pilgrims, however, compliance with this requirement was not insisted upon, although no exemption for pilgrims is provided in the Law. But it is to be anticipated that pilgrims who remain in Iraq' as many do, after the expiration of a reasonable period for the performances of their pilgrimage, say three months, may find themselves called upon to register, and may even be sentenced to payment of a fine or to imprisonment, as provided in the Law for failure to comply with its terms.

* * * * *

Last Sub-Paragraphs of Paragraph XII(b)

Tourists and pilgrims who enter Iraq whether on passports or pilgrim passes should be warned that the Iraq visa allows them to stay three months in Iraq. Any person desiring to stay beyond that period must obtain a Residence Permit from the Director-General of Police, P. R. N. Department, Baghdad, before the three months have expired.

* * * *

Paragraph XII (e).

(e) Visas for Egypt. Indian pilgrims proceeding to Saudi Arabia via Palestine and Suez are required to take an Egyptian Visa at Baghdad. During the pilgrimage seasons there has been no difficulty in obtaining such visas but at other times they are not granted unless the application is supported by a written request from His Majesty's Consul. The object of this restriction appears to be to prevent such persons becoming stranded in Egypt. His Majesty's Consul at Baghdad only recommends persons when he is satisfied that they are bona fide and in possession of sufficient means.

XVII.—Corpse Traffic.

Eleven corpses were imported from India into Iraq during the year 1934. Regulations governing their importation remained unchanged.

The following regulations and charges for the conveyance of corpses from Basral to Karbala by the Iraq Railways are brought to notice :—

(1) Corpses are inspected at Basara by the Health Officer. If the corpse is passed fit for conveyance, a certificate is granted by him on payment of a fee of Rs. 7-8-0.

(2) Dried corpses will be admitted if completely enclosed, so that no part of the corpse is visible.

(3) Moist corpses must be enclosed in hermetically sealed coffins lined with iron, lead or zinc to the satisfaction of the Inspecting Medical Officer and must be accompanied by the following documents (to be obtained before leaving India)—

(a) A certificate or endorsement on the passport to the effect that sanction of the Iraq Government to import the corpse into Iraq has been obtained stating the number and date of such authority.

(b) A certificate from a competent authority to the effect that the deceased person did not die from an infectious disease; the actual cause of death being recorded and accompanied by a statement that the certifying authority has satisfied himself that the corpse is hermetically sealed in a suitable coffin.

(4) Moist corpses will only be admitted between 1st November and 31st March.

(5) Rates of carriage in Iraq:—

Margil (Basrah) to Karbala 530 Kilos per corpse.

	Rs.	a.	p.
Skeletons or dried corpses bagged or boxed which are not offensive and not exceeding 9 feet in length ...	20	10	0

The Report which is published to-day for general information, has received the careful consideration of the Government of India whose decisions thereon are as follows:—

2. In the general description of the industry contained in Chapter II of the Report the Board draws attention to the well-marked differentiation between the woollen and the worsted branches of wool manufacture and in its analysis of the claim for protection, the Board has dealt with each branch separately though it realised that the two branches were not always mutually independent. With this procedure the Government of India are in full agreement and in the following paragraphs the worsted and woollen branches will be separately considered.

3. The Worsted Industry.—The claim of the worsted manufacturing industry to protection is discussed in paragraphs 65-73 of the Board's Report. In its consideration of the extent to which this branch of the woollen industry complies with the conditions prescribed by the Indian Fiscal Commission, the Board has pointed out that "one of the main factors of the first condition laid down by the Fiscal Commission, viz., the existence of an abundant supply of raw material, is not fully satisfied." India is in fact dependent for the most part on outside sources for the supply of the long fibre wool which constitutes the raw material of the industry. If it is true, as the Boards says, that for so long a period as can be foreseen, worsted manufacture will be mainly dependent on foreign supplies—and there appears no reason to contest this statement—the Government of India are of opinion that the worsted branch of the Industry, already handicapped by the comparative smallness of its home market, completely fails to satisfy the first and most important condition precedent to the grant of protection. The claim for protection must therefore also fail.

4. The Woollen Industry.—The Government of India notice with regret that a very important section of the woollen branch, as represented by the Cawnpore and New Egerton Woollen Mills, has not found it possible to place before the Tariff Board any evidence as to the nature and degree of the competition which it experiences from imports from abroad or as to the costs of manufacture in India. They are in accord with the Tariff Board in considering that the bare assertion of an industry cannot be accepted as evidence of the need for protection. They differ from the Board, however, in regard to its opinion that the case for protection, in general, and the estimation of the quantum of protection, in particular, can be properly determined in the absence of evidence from a section of the industry representing at least 50 per cent of its production. Whatever may be the natural advantages of the woollen industry, the suppression of all facts relating to the comparative efficiency of its most important units precludes any findings in regard to the fulfilment of the second and third conditions of the Fiscal Commission and, equally vitiates any calculation of the degree of the protection necessary in order to equate import prices to the fair selling prices of the average efficient mill. The Government of India have, therefore, reluctantly decided that on the evidence which has been produced it cannot be held that a claim for the protection of the woollen branch of the industry has been established. They realise, however, that the defects in the case for protection are not necessarily irremediable and they propose to refer it back to the Tariff Board in order that those interests which have not yet thought fit to give evidence may have another opportunity to substantiate a case which would otherwise go by default.

5. Although they have felt compelled to reject, for the time being at least, the claim of the woollen mills, the Government of India are impressed with the recommendations of the Tariff Board in regard to the handloom and small scale industry. They agree with the Board in believing that the cottage industry will derive more benefit from technical advice and assistance in marketing arrangements than by the imposition of protective duties which in themselves provide no incentive towards the improvement without which the continued survival of the small scale industry is problematical. The Government of India have therefore decided, subject to the vote of the Legislative Assembly, to make a grant of Rs. 5,00,000 spread over five years for the benefit of the cottage and small scale woollen industries. They intend that this grant should be administered in the same manner as the similar grant for the silk industry and applied for the benefit of those provinces in which there is a substantial cottage and small scale woollen industry.

6. In regard to the woollen hosiery industry, the Government of India do not propose to take any decision pending a consideration of the further Report of the Tariff Board on the claims of the main woollen industry. The recommendations of the Board in respect of cotton hosiery and staple fibre are not germane to the main enquiry. They will be the subject of separate consideration and the conclusions of Government thereon will be announced in due course.

ORDER :—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations, etc., all Departments of the Government of India, the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics, the Central Board of Revenue, the Indian Trade Commissioners, London, Hamburg, and Milan, the Secretary, Tariff Board, the High Commissioner for India, London, His Majesty's Trade Commissioner in India, the Canadian Trade Commissioner in India, all the Chambers of Commerces and Associations, the French Trade Commissioner in India, Burma and Ceylon, the Secretary, Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and the Chief Controller of Stores.

No. D. 6085—A. & E. 88-35-7, dated 7th April 1936.

The following copy of letter D. Dis. No. 1410—Cus. I—35, dated 20th January 1936, from the Central Board of Revenue to the Collector of Customs, Madras, with its enclosures regarding levy of cess on coffee, both roasted and ground, containing chicory is published for general information.

I am directed to refer to Mr. Karaka's letter No. R. O. R. 1244—35-Co., dated the 2nd of December 1935.

2. The Board agrees that the cess in question is leviable on both roasted and ground coffee and that coffee containing proportion of chicory should be assessed on the full weight of the mixture.

Letter No. R. O. R. 1244—35-Co., dated the 2nd of December 1935, from the Collector of Customs, Madras, to the First Secretary, Central Board of Revenue, New Delhi.

INDIAN COFFEE CESS ACT, 1935.

I have the honour to enclose a copy of the letter dated the 12th November 1935 from Messrs. Tea Estates India, Limited, Coimbatore. As the Act stands, I am of opinion that cess is leviable on items 1 and 2 referred to in the above letter. In the latter case, cess will be charged on the full weight of the mixture.

2. As regards the question of double tax on imported chicory forming a mixture of coffee exported out of India raised in the letter, I would state that it would be administratively difficult to subject each and every exportation to test in order to determine the actual quantity of chicory in the mixture, in case the exemption from cess of such chicory is considered equitable. I request the Board's orders on this and the other points referred to in para 1 above.

Letter Ref. No. 71, dated the 12th November 1935, from Messrs. Tea Estates India, Limited. Coimbatore, South India, to the Collector of Customs, Madras.

COFFEE CESS.

We shall be obliged if you can kindly give us some information regarding the above cess which came into force on the 2nd instant.

The main points we should like information on are :—

1. Whether roasted and ground coffee were included in the Bill.
2. Whether coffee containing a proportion of chicory is to be assessed at its full weight, or whether the weight of the chicory is to be free of Cess.
3. How it is proposed to collect the Cess.

As regards chicory, the majority of which is imported and which bears an import duty of 25 per cent, we think it very unfair to have to pay a further tax when it is re-exported mixed with coffee.

RESUME OF RECOMMENDATIONS.

PART I.—Organization.

CHAPTER II.

PRIMARY CREDIT SOCIETIES.

Preliminaries to Registration.

The organization of societies should only be undertaken by the Department or by some responsible non-official agency authorized by the Registrar. The formation of a society should always be preceded by due enquiry.

Instruction to members and office-bearers.

Members should have explained to them the main principles of co-operation and the practical working of co-operative societies. Members as well as office-bearers and the staff should receive adequate instruction as to various essential matters.

Area of rural societies.

Membership in rural societies should be confined to the inhabitants of a single village if sufficiently large, or of one village and its hamlets, or of a number of villages within a radius of about three miles in the Maidan or five miles in the Malnad.

Duplication of societies.

As a rule, there should be only one bank or other specific type of society for the same compact area. But where the area is too large to be adequately served by a single institution, separate societies may be permitted to be formed with different jurisdictions. Where there are more societies than one working in the same limited area, either they should be amalgamated or the members should be suitably re-distributed.

Division of societies.

Provisions as to division of societies, on the lines of section 13 of the Madras Act, may be usefully introduced.

Multiple membership.

No member of a credit society with unlimited liability should be admitted into a second similar society until he has withdrawn from membership of the former; and no person should be allowed to pledge his unlimited liability in more societies than one. With a view to limit the present unrestricted freedom to borrow in credit societies generally, a rule may be made that no person, being a member of a credit society, except a land mortgage bank or a central financing bank or a house-building society, shall be a member of any other credit society without the general or special sanction of the Registrar, and that where a person has become a member of two such credit societies, either or both of the societies shall be bound to remove him from membership upon a written requsition from the Registrar to that effect.

It is desirable to have a definite rule providing that, whenever it becomes necessary to take coercive steps against a member for default, he should normally be removed from membership unless he at once makes full payment. Removal from membership.

A general rule may be made declaring that defaulters are ineligible to vote at meetings, and to serve on committees, with power to the Registrar to exempt rural Societies. Disqualification of defaulters.

It should be incumbent on the committee to take immediate steps to remove a member who ceases to be qualified under the rules or by-laws.

The Registrar should have power to rescind any resolution or action of a society or its committee or any of its officers, which may contravene the principle that the discussion or propagation of controversial opinions of a political or religious character are to be entirely excluded from the activities of the movement. Exclusion of political and religious activities.

Unlimited liability is best adapted for small village societies which do not require much capital, and in which membership is restricted to a small area. In non-agricultural societies, liability should, as a general principle, be limited. Liability.

In special cases, where members are prepared to take adequate reserve liability on their shares, an agricultural credit society may be permitted to be formed on a limited liability basis.

It is important that the committee of management should not be placed beyond the control of the general body. It is necessary, on the one hand, to affirm and safeguard the position of the general body as the supreme authority in all matters affecting the administration of the society, and, on the other, to see that adequate powers of executive management are delegated to the committee. The allocation of functions in the by-laws should be quite clear and definite in these respects. Powers and Responsibilities of Committees.

The by-laws of societies should provide for the compulsory retirement by rotation of a certain proportion of committee members every year, and their replacement by new members. An exception to this may be allowed in the case of societies where the needful facilities for change do not obtain. Period of office.

No person should ordinarily be eligible to serve simultaneously on the committees of more than one society of the same type without the sanction of the Registrar. A central financing institution and a primary urban bank may be taken to be of different types for the purpose of this rule. Service on several Committees.

*It is inexpedient to lay down as a necessary qualification for a seat on the committee the possession of a certain number of the society's shares. Qualifications for Membership of Committees.

In all agricultural and in the smaller non-agricultural societies, the Chairman and the members of the managing committee should serve without remuneration. In other institutions where the work is complicated and heavy and requires much time on the part of one or more members, a moderate honorarium may be paid. Remuneration of office-bearers.

Some reasonable compensation by way of bonus will usually have to be paid to the Secretary. The present limit of 12½ per cent of net profits, subject to a maximum of Rs. 250, is generally recognized to be too low, and may be raised to 15 per cent with a maximum of Rs. 300. Where no clerical assistance is given to the Secretary, an additional 5 per cent may be allowed. Bonus to Secretary.

Every society which can afford the cost should have a full time paid staff. In every credit society with heavy transactions, there should be also a trained and fully qualified Manager. Paid staff.

*Where the membership of an urban bank exceeds a general limit of 1,500 (or, with the special permission of the Registrar, 2,000), further admissions must be stopped, the needs of new applicants being served by the formation of an additional bank, and the sphere of operations of the two institutions defined so as to avoid overlapping. Limit of membership in Urban Banks.

There should ordinarily be only one bank for each urban area, with one or more branches in the outlying wards or suburbs. But in the larger towns and cities, it would be preferable to have separate banks with jurisdiction over different Number of banks in urban areas.

parts or extensions so as to avoid needless competition and conflict of interests.

Defaulters in other societies.

No person should be admitted to membership of any society if he has not fully discharged his obligations to other societies.

Grain Banks.

The utility of Grain Banks—in view of various difficulties connected with their working—is strictly limited.

Women's Societies.

There is no special need for separate credit societies for women as a class.

Where separate societies may advantageously be organised is in connection with the encouragement of thrift, the carrying on of simple home industries, the purchase and sale of articles and the training and employing of women in subsidiary occupations.

Communal Societies.

There are various theoretical and practical objections to the formation of purely communal societies. But provided their activities are confined to the promotion of the economic interests of their own members and do not overflow into anti-social channels in relation to other communities, there is no reason to place any particular restrictions on their working.

Societies for Depressed Classes.

Special Adikarnataka Societies should only be continued in respect of specific trades like shoe-making and weaving, or where Adikarnatakas cannot get admission freely to the general societies. Adikarnataka societies, as long as they are continued, require special help in the shape of a paid Secretary, and of loans at low rates of interest, and also provision for subsidiary occupations for the members.

Societies for salary earners.

In societies for salary earners, subscriptions to provident funds may well be made compulsory, and the advantages of co-operative insurance secured for members.

Government servants.

The scope for indiscriminate borrowing on the part of Government servants will be curtailed by a rule imposing stringent restrictions on multiple membership. A Government servant ought to be prohibited from borrowing from any outside source, so long as there is a departmental or office society of which he is or can be a member, and which is prepared to give him sufficient and reasonable credit for his current requirements up to the maximum limit of his borrowing capacity.

It is necessary to devise a scheme for the redemption of the existing outside debts of officials, preferably through the agency of departmental societies.

CHAPTER III.

PRIMARY NON-CREDIT SOCIETIES.

Multiple objects.

Assuming that incompatible activities are not combined, that unlimited liability is not risked in transactions for which it is unsuitable, and that efficiency is in no way sacrificed, there is no objection to credit societies undertaking non-credit activities as additional or secondary functions, the transactions and accounts of the two sides of activity being kept distinct.

Crop loans.

The system of crop loans should be encouraged and worked under due safeguards.

Loan and Sale Societies.

The organization of separate loan and sale societies, working independently of credit societies, requires active encouragement and support from the Co-operative Department, and sufficient financial assistance in the early stages from the Apex Bank. Where suitable godowns are not available for rent, Government may be moved to advance loans for their construction on an inexpensive scale.

Joint marketing.

For the purpose of extending the marketing facilities in the State, societies may be formed for the marketing of commercial crops and industrial products. Liberal help from Government will be needed in the shape of grants for initial expenses, and advances for the building or hiring of warehouses or godowns, in trade centres. A beginning may be made by way of experiment in selected areas where the conditions are favourable and the necessity is greatest, as in the case of the areca-growing tracts of the Malnad, such as Sagar, Tirthahalli and Koppa.

The formation of a central areca sale co-operative society, with godowns at Shimoga and affiliated societies or branches all over the areca-growing area, may be taken up for early consideration. Central Areca Sale Society.

The Agricultural Department may, with advantage, utilize more largely the agency of credit societies for distributing improved seed and implements, and also help in the general supervision and development of special non-credit societies. Societies should not be required by the Department to purchase things outright irrespective of whether this would work at a profit or loss. Supply of seeds, manure and implements.

Permissive legislation may be undertaken, on the lines of the Central Provinces Act, to provide for consolidation being carried out in villages where a majority of the owners holding a certain minimum area of land have agreed to the preparation of a scheme. Consolidation of holdings.

Societies for cattle-breeding can only be properly organized in the bigger villages, and that too if adequate grazing grounds be made available on favourable terms. Cattle breeding.

With a view to the supply of pure milk to the residents of the cities of Bangalore and Mysore, dairy societies of distinct types may be organized, one consisting of the producers of milk in the neighbouring villages, and the other of the consumers. Initial help will be required in the shape of dairy equipment, and charges of management for the first few years, as well as an assurance of purchase of the milk requirements of medical institutions. Dairying.

Cattle insurance is a somewhat speculative undertaking and requires expert knowledge. There has so far been no genuine demand from the people for such societies in Mysore. Cattle Insurance.

The work of organizing the people for village industries, and supplementing their regular pursuits by side occupations, may be done through societies of various kinds which will provide raw material, employ labour, advance wages, provide wholesale depots, and arrange for the sale of the finished products in towns and commercial centres. A systematic enquiry should be made into the economic conditions of any industry proposed to be taken up, and a practicable scheme prepared in each case. Rural Industries.

Co-operative institutions should be established to finance rural industries on a larger scale than at present. The formation of new societies in different parts of the State where there are suitable openings will have to be undertaken cautiously, with the help and encouragement of Government and under expert departmental advice. Formation of Industrial Societies.

The Apex Bank with its large surplus funds should find it possible to help primary industrial societies to a larger extent than now. The provision of adequate marketing facilities requires continuous and systematic attention from the Department of Industries and Commerce. Financial and marketing facilities.

The decline in the weaving industry can only be arrested by suitable organization, special financial and marketing help, and competent technical and expert guidance. The rehabilitation of weavers' societies requires special measures of help on the part of Government. There are various practical difficulties of organization and supervision, which cannot be met except by the formation of a Central Society and provision for expert advice and guidance. Weavers' Societies.

The work of the sericultural societies is hampered by the inadequacy of funds and the lack of technical guidance and help. What they most need is the services of technical workers for carrying on the technical operations; increased sales are expected to meet a part of the cost; the balance will have to be contributed by Government. Sericultural Societies.

A desirable extension of co-operative activities would be the joint marketing of cocoons and, where possible, joint reeling. The possibility of organizing co-operative reeling societies, aided with Government funds and supervised by the Sericultural Department, may be investigated. Co-operative Reeling.

In stores societies regard should be had in fixing prices to the current market rates, from which they should not ordinarily vary to any marked extent, and allowance must be made from Stores.

time to time for fluctuations in prices. Co-operative stores must buy wholesale, and buy more directly from the sources of production than they do now. Cash sales should be the rule for all; but where credit is allowed, it should be restricted to members and to the extent of their paid up share or other assets in the society. The profits derived from stores should, after the prescribed allotment to reserve and after paying a reasonable preferential rate on shares, be disbursed entirely on custom in the shape of rebates to members.

Central Store.

While there are obvious advantages in having one strong central wholesale organization, which could make purchases at source in large quantities for supply to small societies, there is no insistent demand at present for a Central Society, while the need for the large capital and expert management required will remain as an obstacle in the way of its near realization.

House building Societies.

House building societies may with advantage take direct and active part in constructional work. Societies of the kind should help members with type designs as well as assist in the preparation of plans according to individual tastes and requirements. They should be able to procure building materials cheaply, and where possible they should join with other societies in ordering or manufacturing them. They should also in time take up the work of construction for their members. Where they have adequate funds and proper expert help, and especially where they have themselves undertaken the supply or manufacture of house building materials, they may well build a certain number of model houses at their own cost on well-considered type-plans and either lease them to members or sell them on the instalment system.

Repayments of house building loans.

The equated system of repayment should be generally adopted. A rebate of half per cent below the rate charged should be granted to members, and by Government to societies, for payments made in advance. Repayments should be allowed either monthly or annually

Central institution for financing House-building Societies.

While a Central house construction society does not seem to be quite practicable at present, it is however necessary to have one Central institution entrusted with the function solely of providing the requisite long-term finance for house building societies.

Rate of interest.

To enable house building societies to make full use of the financial assistance offered by Government, it is necessary to lower the rate of interest to members to 6 per cent and to extend the period of repayment up to 20 or 25 years. The Government may be pleased suitably to alter the terms of their loans to allow of this being done.

Acquisition of land.

The law should be suitably amended so as to permit of the compulsory acquisition, on behalf of co-operative housing societies, of land required for house building purposes.

Technical assistance.

Where the work undertaken by a society is on a large scale, free technical assistance should be given by the Public Works Department.

Labour Societies.

There seems to be scope in the Mysore State for societies for the labour classes on the lines of those started in Madras.

Charitable allotments.

Some at least of the available charity funds should be pooled together and systematically used for some common purpose benefiting the movement as a whole, such as propaganda and education.

CHAPTER IV.

FINANCING INSTITUTIONS.

Future policy as to financing of Primary Societies.

There being no present necessity for District Central Banks, the Mysore Provincial Apex Bank should be able to carry on as sole financing agency for the primary societies in the State, with the aid of branches to be established by it in the more important centres (beginning with the Mysore City) as the need arises. The absence of local knowledge and the necessity of having to devolve responsibility on agents are no doubt disadvantages; but they may be minimized by associating local advisory committees with the work of the branches. The local committees may be invested by delegation with powers of supervision, including the power to sanction loans up to a limited extent.

In order that the movement may function efficiently and profitably, it is necessary that the connection to be established between it and the money market should be brought about through the Central financing institution. Balancing being performed by the Central institution and by it alone, primary societies (including urban primary banks) should be forbidden to have direct financial relations with each other.

Balancing to be performed by Central Institution.

There should be a rule definitely disqualifying representatives of defaulting societies from voting at general meetings of the Central institution.

Representatives of defaulting Societies not to vote.

The Provincial Apex Bank should leave individuals to obtain their requirements from primary urban and other societies, which already exist for this very purpose, and confine itself to the financing of the primary societies.

Loans to be confined to societies.

It is unnecessary and inexpedient to permit the Apex Bank to lend money to non-member depositors on the security of their deposits.

Loans to non-member depositors.

Affiliation must be placed on its proper basis as a necessary condition of mutual benefit and community of interest.

Affiliation and reciprocal facilities.

*All primary societies, rural and urban, should be required to affiliate themselves to the Apex Bank, and to invest their surplus funds and a substantial portion of their unutilized reserves to the extent of one-third with that institution.

The latter should, for its part, allow these investments to be used as fluid resource, provide suitable cash credit on the security of the investments, and otherwise grant prompt credit on relatively easy terms to the permissible extent, and should afford to the affiliated societies such facilities generally as can be obtained from joint stock banks.

It is necessary to raise the strength of the Directorate of the Apex Bank from thirteen to fifteen. Five places should be reserved exclusively for representatives of rural societies, and five for representatives of urban societies, both credit and non-credit; and two for representatives of individual share-holders. This will leave—besides the President, who will be elected by the general body—two places, both of which should be filled by nomination by Government. One of the Directors so nominated may with advantage be the Comptroller.

Directorate of Apex Bank.

The constitution of the Directorate of Central institutions should be defined in outline in the Regulation itself, leaving details to rules. One such rule should provide explicitly for the automatic retirement every year of a third of the Directors by rotation.

The management of a Provincial Bank calls for practical training and financial knowledge and experience of a high order. The services of trained bankers on the Directorate should, where possible, be secured by co-optation, if not by election. Early steps should be taken to engage on a suitable salary a duly qualified and capable person as Manager. It is essential also to have a qualified Auditor on the staff.

Management of Provincial Bank.

The Provincial Bank and other co-operative institutions should confine themselves to borrowing and lending for short and intermediate terms, leaving long term finance entirely in the hands of the Land Mortgage Bank. This is apart from the separate recommendation made with regard to the financing of house-building Societies.

Banking facilities.

So far as primary societies are concerned, they should seek loans and cash credits from the Apex Bank. But the Apex Bank may well look to the Bank of Mysore for special help of the kind given by the Imperial Bank and the new Reserve Bank in British India.

What is chiefly needed is an arrangement with the Mysore Bank for giving adequate accommodation to the Apex Bank, in the shape of a cash credit on the security, and up to 75 per cent of the amount, of the pronotes of rural societies backed by their endorsements. It is desirable, at the same time, that the Apex Bank should have the moral backing of Government in the shape of a promise of a definite advance of 2 lakhs of rupees whenever required.

PART II.—Finance.

CHAPTER V.

CAPITAL RESOURCES.

Attraction of deposits.

Deposits in a primary society should as far as possible be confined to persons with local interests, and deposits from outside the locality should be discouraged.

Rates of interest.

While the actual rates of interest will vary according to local conditions and requirements, it is necessary to prevent undue variations and competition of rates in the same area, and also to guard against the danger of leaving too narrow a margin between lendings and borrowings. For these reasons and in order to safeguard the interests of the movement as a whole, it is desirable that the Registrar should continuously watch the rates of interest proposed to be adopted from time to time.

Provident Fund Bonds.

Every endeavour should be made to bring home to members especially in urban societies, the distinct advantages offered by a scheme of Provident Fund Bonds.

Currents deposits.

Current accounts may be allowed in urban banks under suitable safeguards. But the system is unsuited to primary rural Societies.

Security amounts.

Government servants, treasurers, etc., who have to tender security, may be permitted at their option to place the security amount in a co-operative institution.

Inter-finance.

Primary societies should not be permitted to borrow directly from one another. The Provincial Apex Bank should be the sole medium for inter-finance within the movement,

Borrowing power of societies.

It is the duty of the Directorate of the Central financing Bank to fix every year the maximum sum it is prepared to lend to a society.

Some at least of the delay in the investigation of loan applications and issue of loans may be obviated if the investigation of a society's borrowing capacity, instead of being postponed till after a specific loan application is received, is taken up as part of a systematic process of the assessment of the financial position of all affiliated societies to be conducted periodically.

Authori zation of committees.

The general body of every primary society should, once a year at its annual meeting, fix the maximum limit up to which its committee is authorized to borrow without its sanction, the committee being personally responsible for loss if the limit fixed is exceeded.

Concessional rates.

Central financing institutions are expected to show all possible consideration to their primary societies in the matter of the rates of interest on loans. They should lend at concessional rates sums required by societies up to the extent of the reserve fund of the latter kept in deposit with them.

Custody of cash and securities.

Strict rules should be made regarding the custody of cash and securities.

Security from cashiers.

Cashiers should give security for the full amount of till money. Cash balances should be checked in detail at each audit.

CHAPTER VI.

EMPLOYMENT OF CAPITAL.

Preliminary investigation.

A loan should in no case be given without adequate preliminary investigation. In the case of loans to societies, the central financing bank ought to make its own independent investigation irrespective of the Registrar's recommendation. In the case of loans to individual members, it is most important to scrutinize carefully the purpose of the loan and the repaying capacity of the borrower.

Individual borrowings to be confined to one society.

Where a person is a member of more credit societies than one, he should be required to confine his borrowings to one of them. If a member of an unlimited liability society joins another one and so pledges his liability twice over, he ought to be expelled. There should be a clear rule that, where a person has become a member of two such societies, either or both of the societies shall be bound to remove him from membership upon a requisition from the Registrar.

Purpose of loans.

Loans should not be granted except for productive purposes. But where owing to custom or sentiment some non-productive expenditure has to be accepted as necessary, the loans should be granted sparingly and under close supervision.

Period.

Co-operative institutions should be required to confine their business to short term credit, that is, for periods not exceeding five years and, with due circumspection, to credit for intermediate periods between five and ten years. Credit for periods over ten years must be treated as long credit, and altogether eschewed by the ordinary co-operative institutions.

Assessment of credit.

The Central financing Bank should assess the credit of an affiliated society after re-examining and testing the society's own estimate of its borrowing power and the data on which the society has fixed the normal credit of its members, and considering the society's needs and its own existing funds. Loans granted by societies to members should be based, not so much upon the value of their property and assets as upon their capacity to repay out of the proceeds of their crops or other incomings in the case of short loans, and out of their savings in the case of other loans.

Fixing of credits.

Except in rural societies with a limited membership, the fixing of credit for each individual member is a matter not for the general meeting, but for the managing committee, subject to the maximum credit limits fixed by the general body.

Normal credit.

The introduction of the normal credit system in primary societies is desirable, particularly as regards rural societies.

Information as to loans.

In the case of societies with unlimited liability, a list showing the loans issued to every member, the names of sureties, and the amount of loan unpaid, should be kept open to inspection.

Cash Credit.

In well established societies, the practice of allowing cash credits to individual members may be adopted with advantage. Similarly, cash credits should be freely opened by the Central financing institution in favour of well managed societies, but should be subject to annual renewal.

Margin of interest.

The rates of interest charged by the Central financing Banks on loans to societies must, on the one hand, be materially lower than those charged in the bazaar to persons of the class from whom the members are drawn, and yet must be substantial enough to provide the large margin necessary for maintaining adequate fluid resource, building up a reserve, and meeting working expenses. The rates will, at the same time, vary on a definite system with reference to the character of the borrowing society and the length of the loan. Two and a half or at most 3 per cent may be taken in the average as a safe and reasonable margin. The maximum rates charged by societies to members should not depart widely (that is, by more than one or one and a half per cent) from the current market rates.

Security.

The primary security for every loan should generally be personal. Ordinary co-operative societies would be well advised to shun mortgage security, to confine themselves to personal securities for all loans, and to protect themselves by limiting the loans issued to amounts and periods for which such security is suitable. In the case, however, of loans for intermediate periods, it may be necessary for societies to take collateral protection in the shape of a pledge or mortgage of tangible property.

Taking over lands of defaulters.

Societies may be permitted, in the absence of bidders for the lands of defaulters, to take them over for a nominal bid, administering them like trust properties on behalf of the defaulters and returning them to the latter whenever the liability is liquidated.

Loans on crops.

Agricultural credit societies, and loan and sale societies, should grant short term loans on the security of harvested crops grown by members, and, under due safeguards, on standing crops also.

Prior claim to be converted into charge.

Section 19 of the Regulation gives a society a prior claim to enforce demands against certain property of its members. This should be converted into a charge so that a society may have a first claim without having to obtain a decree. The priority should be made available against any claim of the Government arising from a subsequent loan under the Land Improvement Loans Regulation.

Shares and Provident Fund Bonds not to be accepted as security.

The member's own share should never be accepted as security for a loan. Similarly shares held by a society in a Central institution should not be accepted by the latter as security for a loan. The security required from societies should ordinarily take the form of pro-notes. It is very undesirable to accept Provident Fund Bonds as security for loans.

Disbursement of loans.

Loans should be disbursed with fair promptitude. The introduction of a system of normal credits will help substantially to minimize delay in the issue of loans. Where loan applications are numerous, sub-committees may be appointed to grant loans up to a specified limit, beyond which the applications should come before the full committee of management.

Utilization of loans.

The proper utilization of the loan should not be left to the borrower's discretion or the vigilance of his sureties, but should be watched and scrutinized by the managing committee.

Repayments.

While the special needs of individual borrowers will determine the periods for which loans are granted, repayments should be on dates convenient to the borrower as well as to the society or bank.

Penal interest and Rebates.

Penal interest, if levied, should not be excessive; in any case it should not exceed the ordinary rate by more than two per cent. It is desirable to have a regular system of rebates for prompt repayments.

Extensions for proper cause.

Renewals and extensions should not be granted too freely and without just cause. The existing conditions of economic depression and diminished earnings warrant some relaxation.

Adjustments of payments.

All payments on account of decreed debts should be carried to principal and not to interest; no credit should be taken for interest until the principal has been repaid.

Repayments must be real, and must correspond with a real reduction of the borrower's liabilities, and not be made by a re-arrangement of debts.

Renewals.

Renewals should not be permitted until the interest in full and at least 25 per cent of the principal is paid by the borrower, nor in any case till after the lapse of a prescribed interval, which should not be less than a month or six weeks.

Credit statements, and Demand and Recovery statements.

It is desirable to insist on the maintenance of "Credit Statements," as well as to introduce a system of "Demand and Recovery" statements.

Accounts of Loans.

The system of accounts should show clearly whether any repayments have been made, what loans have been extended, and which have become overdue. Renewed and overdue loans must be clearly discernible. Loans overdue for more than three years should ordinarily be treated as bad debts.

Responsibility for negligence.

The members of the committee should be made personally responsible, jointly and severally, for the repayment of loans which by their negligence may have become time-barred.

Precautionary measures.

The application of personal pressure on the borrower's sureties should always be the first of the precautionary measures to be adopted. Apart from this, the only other way of ensuring payment is to put pressure upon the borrower to repay according to the best of his capacity.

Defaulters.

Persons against whom coercive steps have been taken show themselves to be unfit to continue to be members, and should automatically cease to be such (unless liable only as sureties.) A person who has defaulted in respect of his own loan for three months should be disqualified from the office of a member of the committee.

Systematic examination of outstandings.

Societies and financing banks should undertake a systematic examination of their financial position with reference to their outstandings. Every loan in each society should be examined with a view to ascertain whether it is adequately secured, and whether action should be taken at once to collect it, or time can be given to enable the borrower to pay it of his own accord. In addition to action taken by societies, the Central institutions should themselves set on foot intensive schemes for an examination of all loans outstanding against members in primary societies.

There should be a definite rule prohibiting the inclusion of all accrued and unrealized interest for the purpose of reckoning profits for distribution. But in the case of Central institutions the Registrar may, in special cases, permit an exemption in favour of preference shareholders. Interest earned but not realised should be shown separately in the profit and loss account. All accrued interest so deducted, which is actually recovered during a subsequent year, may, however, be permitted to be added to profits of such year available for distribution. No dividend should be paid otherwise than out of profits actually realized. Overdue interest not to be included in net profits.

The maximum dividend should be restricted to a fair interest on capital. Maximum dividends.

Thrift and savings societies, which neither borrow from non-members nor lend to members in excess of their assets, should be exempted from maintaining a compulsory reserve. Reserve in case of thrift and savings societies.

The share capital plus the accumulated reserve fund should not be less than one-tenth of the total liabilities (including loans and deposits). Proportion of owned capital to liabilities.

Usually, the reserve fund should be invested in one or other of the modes laid down in the Regulation and rules up to a limit prescribed by the Registrar, the excess being permitted to be employed productively in the society's own business Employment of Reserves.

In societies of unlimited liability, the bulk if not the whole of the reserve fund may be used in their ordinary business as working capital; so also in societies which have no deposits. But in other societies a moiety of the reserve fund should ordinarily be invested outside.

In the case of the Apex Bank, one-third of the reserve fund should ordinarily be invested in gilt-edged securities, including redeemable Government securities or Land Mortgage or other debentures guaranted by Government, and the remainder permitted to be employed as working capital. Reserve funds of primary societies should be either invested in gilt-edged securities or guaranteed debentures as aforesaid, or deposited with their central financing institutions. Investment of Reserve Fund.

The option given to a society by section 32 to invest funds in the shares of any other society should be qualified by a proviso that no such investment shall be made in the shares of any society other than one with limited liability.

Where any portion of the reserve fund is permitted to be used as working capital, interest thereon at the same rate as for deposits for one year should be added to the reserve. Profit on reserve used as capital.

Co-operative societies and banks should be required to make satisfactory provision for all overdue loans considered to be irrecoverable before any dividend is declared. After the building up of a reserve fund has made some progress, it will be desirable to form a special Bad Debt Fund in addition. Bad Debt Fund.

Limited liability societies will be well advised to create a "Share Transfer Fund". Share Transfer Fund.

The limit of contribution fixed in section 34 of the Regulation may be raised to 20 per cent of the net profits, and at least one-third of the aggregate earmarked as a provincial fund for the promotion of co-operative education. Contributions to charitable purposes.

CHAPTER VII.

FLUID RESOURCES, STATE AID, ACCOUNTS.

Societies which hold large deposits should arrange to have a cash credit with their central institutions for meeting demands unforseen and unprovided for. Loans from other societies or banks should not be resorted to except when absolutely necessary Cash Credit as Fluid Resource.

to meet calls which could not be anticipated or otherwise provided for. A central financing institution must keep a fluid resource to meet contractions of credit entailing withdrawals of deposits at due dates. The fluid resource kept by it must suffice to meet its own requirements and those of primary societies which have entered into arrangements with it.

Standard of Fluid Resource.

For limited liability societies with deposits under Rs. 20,000 and for unlimited societies as a whole, the standard of fluid resource to be maintained may be left to the Registrar's decision. The Apex Bank should maintain as fluid resource a sum sufficient to cover one-third of the possible liabilities for the ensuing year. In primary urban banks with deposits of or over Rs. 20,000 every effort should be made to work up to the standard recommended for the Apex Bank.

Fluid Resource for Fixed Deposits.

As regards fixed deposits, it is sufficient to maintain as fluid resource 30 per cent of the fixed deposits falling due within the next six months, or 50 per cent of those falling due within the next 30 days, whichever is higher.

For current Accounts.

With regard to current accounts, notice of large withdrawals might be required; failing this, the standard of fluid resource may, provided proper care and precautions are taken, be fixed at 40 per cent. The same standard will be required in respect of the undrawn balance of cash credit to societies and members.

For Savings and Thrift Deposits.

Societies should be required to keep 25 per cent of savings and thrift deposits as margin.

For Cash Credits.

The Apex Bank should be required to maintain in the form of fluid resource at least 40 per cent of the amount of cash credits allowed to other societies.

Form of Fluid Resource

As a rule, fluid resources should consist of—cash in hand, the undrawn cash credit with a recognized Bank, and 80 per cent of the current market value of authorized securities.

Facilities to be obtained.

Adequate cash credit and overdraft facilities may be obtained from the Bank of Mysore by the Central financial institution.

The Apex Bank should in its turn afford similar facilities to urban banks receiving large deposits.

Securities held in respect of the reserve fund cannot be regarded as normally available as fluid resource, and the investments should be kept distinct.

Periodical Reports.

All credit societies should submit quarterly statements to the Registrar, showing in detail that the rules in respect of fluid resources are being observed. The reports of the central institutions should be reviewed by the Registrar and copies of his reviews submitted to Government.

Surplus Fund.

Surplus Funds (i. e., superfluous money) in urban societies should be regularly passed on for deposit to the Provincial Apex Bank.

Special Banking Business.

There is no objection to urban co-operative societies doing all kinds of banking business to meet the requirements of their members; but they should be debarred from entering into forward delivery contracts in any market either on their own account or on account of their members. The granting of cash credits, dealing in cheques, and clearing and remittance business, should be encouraged. The discounting of inland bills may be permitted in the case of urban banks.

Urban banks may also be permitted to advance money on the security of gold and silver ornaments, on the former up to 75 per cent and on the latter up to 50 per cent of the value.

Sufficient cash balances should be kept by urban banks with the Apex Bank, while receiving from the latter adequate discount or re-discount facilities.

Concessions to Co-operative Institutions.

The prior claim which is conferred by section 19 of the Regulation, should be made effective by its being replaced by a "first charge".

Concessions similar to those enjoyed by the Land Mortgage Bank under sections 66 and 73 of the Regulation may be granted to co-operative institutions, in the matter of the distraint and sale of the produce of mortgaged property through the Registrar, and the registration of documents on behalf of an institution.

without insisting on the appearance of a representative of the institution.

Co-operative societies may be placed in the same position as land mortgage Banks under section 75 in the matter of the burden of proof as to the binding character of the purpose of debts.

It is desirable to exempt all societies generally from the operation of the Agriculturists' Relief Regulation, instead of providing for the grant of exemption in particular cases.

Co-operative societies may also be exempted from payment of income-tax and super-tax on earnings from investments in public securities or land mortgage debentures, to the extent of such investments as are necessary for the purpose of their fluid resources and for the investment of reserve funds as prescribed by the rules

The full measure of exemption originally enjoyed by societies in the matter of the court fee payable on suits filed in the Registrar's Court, may be restored as soon as financial conditions will permit. In the meantime, where a decision is passed without contest and on the agreement of parties, half the institution fee may be refunded as is done in Civil Courts.

State Aid.

Financial aid may legitimately continue to be given by the State to encourage new societies and new forms of co-operation as well as extensions of the movement in particular directions.

Provision for Co-operative Education.

The spread of co-operative education and the provision of suitable institutions for teaching and training are as much proper objects for State aid and patronage, as they are for active support from co-operative institutions.

CHAPTER VIII.

LONG-TERM FINANCE.

Policy as to long-term finance.

The combination of short and long-term finance is inadvisable and likely to lead to disastrous results. Long-term finance should be left entirely to land mortgage and other special institutions. In classifying purposes and periods some elasticity is desirable. The description "short-term" may include advances up to five years, those ranging between five and ten years being classed as "intermediate"; loans for periods exceeding ten years will then fall under "long-term." The policy indicated must be given effect to steadily and systematically, so as to correspond with the extension of land mortgage and other long-term facilities.

Short-term cultivation loans.

While land mortgage institutions should as a rule confine themselves to long-term finance, leaving the ordinary credit societies to undertake short-term credit, it is not unreasonable that, when a land mortgage bank lends money on the security of land, it should also provide a small margin for working expenses in the shape of a floating advance which will be a first charge on each year's crop.

Limits of loans.

The minimum limit of Rs. 500 for loans tends to shut out many persons whose needs are more moderate, and may be lowered to Rs. 300 in the interests of the smaller agriculturists, provided the minimum period is also reduced to twenty years.

Rate of interest.

The rate of interest charged on loans, namely, eight per cent, is too high under existing conditions, and far beyond the capacity of the ordinary agriculturists. The rate charged should not, as a rule, exceed six per cent.

Should be lowered to six per cent.

The concession asked for by the Land Mortgage Bank, in the matter of the continuance of the annual grant of Rs. 5,000 for working expenses for two or three years more, may be granted on the understanding that immediate effect is given to the lowering of the rate of interest. Even without such extraneous aid, and under normal conditions, allowing a margin of one and a half per cent for meeting expenses, it ought not to be difficult for the Bank to lend at six per cent the money it is able to get at four and a half per cent or less.

Valuation and investigation.

The tacking on of valuation work to Circle Inspectors is not a satisfactory arrangement, as the Inspectors cannot do the work promptly along with their ordinary duties of a varied character. A paid staff for the investigation of loan applications seems quite necessary in addition to the local committee members. The cost will have to be borne by Government for the next few years, after which the Central Land Mortgage Bank should bear it, the affiliated societies contributing from the realizations under appraising fee.

Delays in granting loans.

The disposal of loan applications and disbursement of loans sanctioned may be accelerated by the adoption of the various suggestions made in the Report.

Solution of problem of rural poverty.

The final solution of the problem of rural poverty lies in a material improvement of the economic position of the raiyat population, through the steady pursuit of a policy aimed directly at that end. Such a policy will make provision, among other things, for actively helping the agriculturist to adopt improved methods of cultivation familiarized through demonstration and instruction, and by the advance of any necessary capital; for the introduction of subsidiary occupations which will tend to add to his ordinary income from agriculture; and for the gradual expansion of education among the rural population.

Control of usury.

There is need for effective legislative action, on the one hand, to control the transactions of money-lenders and minimize unscrupulous and dishonest practices on their part, and, on the other, to afford relief to borrowers from some of the harsher incidents of unrestricted usury. Some sort of restrictive control is necessary over the transactions of professional money-lenders. Such control is not likely to be effective without provision, among other things, for compelling this class of persons to obtain licenses, to maintain regular accounts of their transactions, to grant receipts in due form for all payments received, to furnish their debtors every six months with verified statements of their dues, or in the alternative to give pass books recording all receipts and payments as well as interest charged, and to abstain from charging excessive interest or compound or penal interest. The courts should be empowered to disallow interest in the case of any wilful omission or neglect on the part of the creditor of the obligations laid upon him; also to reduce the rate of interest where it is excessive, and generally to enforce fair and equitable dealing between the parties. Legislation as suggested above should also reserve power to Government to impose such special restrictions as may be considered necessary to protect borrowers from the irregular methods and exactions of Pathan and Marwari usurers.

Usurious Loans Regulation.

The Usurious Loans Regulation is defective, in that it places on the debtor the burden of proving that the rate of interest charged is excessive and that the transaction is unfair; the scrutiny of transactions and the disallowing of usurious interest is left to the discretion of the Court instead of being made imperative; and what constitutes excessive interest is not defined. Action has to be taken to remedy these defects, and also to make the provisions of the Regulation more widely known among the classes affected.

Consolidation of enactments.

It would be an advantage if the connected provisions of law for the relief of indebtedness, now contained in several different enactments, could be consolidated.

Machinery for Conciliation of Debts.

Any measure of general debt conciliation, if it is to be effective, must, in the first place, provide an impartial tribunal some at least of whose members have had judicial experience, but all of them inspired by the desire to deal justly and equitably with all parties, while unhampered as a board by technical rules of law and procedure. Settlements must as a rule be based on mutual agreement or compromise, not on compulsion; the Board may advise and persuade, but not coerce, the parties. In cases where parties are themselves unable to reach a voluntary agreement but are not opposed to a decision on equitable grounds being given by the Board, there can be no objection to the latter exercising functions in the nature of a final arbitration. Since the debtor is not always in a position to make a "fair offer," the Board may be empowered to frame a fair and reasonable scheme for the consideration of the parties.

Provision has also to be made for helping the debtor to pay off the conciliated debt immediately. No organization save Government can command resources adequate for debt conciliation on an extensive scale; but where the amount involved is likely to be very large, and the number of cases to be dealt with is quite considerable, direct liquidation by Government agency is impracticable. The help of the Land Mortgage Bank may be utilized in all cases where the debtor can offer adequate security and has sufficient surplus income from which to pay the instalments of the debt according to settlement. Payment of conciliated debt.

The ordinary co-operative credit societies may be able to help their indebted members to a limited extent, where the total amount involved is, say, below Rs. 250, and the period required for repayment does not exceed ten years. In other cases affecting agriculturists of small means, the liquidation of compounded debts may appropriately be effected through loans granted by the State under a special enactment for the grant of such loans. Apart from such cases, the Land Mortgage Bank is, by its functions, resources and method, best suited for the task in view, provided it is empowered to raise the funds needed through the issue of further debentures guaranteed by Government. Agency of ordinary credit societies and of Land Mortgage Bank.

Direct conciliation through the medium of co-operative and land mortgage societies may occasionally be possible. But it can only be done on a purely voluntary basis, and on the understanding that in all such cases the societies are prepared to help the debtor to discharge his liabilities and in the last resort to take them over themselves. Direct conciliation through societies.

The requirements of the class of large landed properitors, among them owners of the bigger Indian coffee estates in the Malnad, whose debts exceed Rs. 10,000, cannot be adequately met by the ordinary co-operative societies or by the co-operative Land Mortgage Bank, owing to the nature and extent of the financial assistance required. The needs of these large owners can only be met by the formation of a special type of Mortgage Bank. Credit requirements of large proprietors.

It will be an advantage to utilize the services and local knowledge of co-operative and land mortagage societies for the distribution of Takavi and Land Improvement Loans. In fact, it is advisable that loans to members of such institutions should be generally made through them and not directly. But societies must in that case be given the same rights of priority and the same privileges as to recovery of dues as are applicable to the case of loans granted direct by Government. Takavi Loans.

PART III.—Administration.

CHAPTER IX.

REGULATIVE FUNCTIONS.

Audit, whether conducted through departmental officers or through outside auditors, should extend somewhat beyond the the bare requirements of the Regulation, and embrace an enquiry into all the circumstances which determine a society's general position. Scope of Audit and functions of Auditor.

The auditor must satisfy himself that the books contain a proper record of the transactions entered into. He should make a searching examination of the accounts with the vouchers and the authority for each item of expenditure examined. The auditor must test the transactions exhaustively; and should his report disclose anything irregular, steps must be taken to have a complete audit made.

A form of audit report should be prescribed, both for the departmental Inspector-Auditors and for the non-departmental certified auditors. The form prescribed should indicate the points on which enquiry should be made and the details to be furnished. Form of Audit Report.

Audit notes should not be treated as confidential. The auditor's report should be included in the annual report and Publication of Audit Reports.

placed before the general meeting. Central financing institutions should receive free of charge copies of audit reports of all societies indebted to them. They should also have facilities for making such further enquiry as they may consider necessary to safeguard their own financial interests.

Half-yearly Audits.

To avoid delay in departmental audit reports, audit should be divided into two parts, preliminary and final; and societies must be visited for preliminary and final audit at intervals of six months.

In urban societies with large transactions the reports of auditors may with advantage be prepared once every half year and considered at general meetings held every half year. This will also allow of annual meetings being held much earlier than at present.

Audit Agency.

Since the law vests in Government the undivided responsibility for audit, the control of audit as a whole and of the paid staff therefor must be with the Registrar.

The accounts of societies having a working capital of Rs. 5,000 and above should be audited through certified auditors authorized by the Registrar after consultation with the society concerned.

The Registrar should fix the remuneration of the auditors selected on a sliding scale based on the transactions, working capital and net profits of each society. Each auditor will be assigned a certain number of societies. It is desirable that the same person should not audit a society's accounts for more than two years consecutively.

The societies so audited should be required to make contribution towards the cost according to a scale recommended.

Audit on behalf of Societies.

No alteration is required in the arrangement by which a few of the large rural societies are having their accounts audited in detail by competent local auditors and accountants.

Banks and societies must pay the cost of their own separate audits.

Concurrent Internal Audit.

Over and above the audit made by the departmental staff or by an external auditor, every society, large or small, should make arrangments for a continuous daily, or at least weekly, internal audit of the accounts, by the committee or by one or more of its members deputed for the purpose. Where a society can afford it, a separate audit clerk should be appointed, who will work directly under, and be responsible to, the president for the checking and auditing of the accounts of the daily transactions.

Audit Unions.

A scheme for the formation of Audit Unions,—while it may make for uniformity in the system of audit and provide for co-ordination of the closely allied functions of audit and supervision—is not at present practicable in the absence of a strong and efficient co-ordinating Institute at the centre.

Supervision.

The present arrangements for supervision are unsatisfactory and defective, especially in the case of rural societies.

The case of Central and Urban institutions.

The powers of control now vested in the Registrar are sufficient for all practical purposes, and do not require to be amplified. It is in the scope for the exercise of these powers that some discrimination seems to be required. So far as urban societies are concerned, barring gross and exceptional cases of mismanagement or financial breakdown, there should be little occasion for interference on the part of departmental officers beyond the discharge of their ordinary functions of audit and inspection. Any advice required of them will be technical rather than administrative. In fact, in the case of the Central institutions and of the well-established urban banks, interference should be exceptional; and in every case where this is found necessary, a report of the circumstances should invariably be made to Government for information with a copy of any representation submitted by the institution concerned.

The case of Rural Societies.

In the case of rural societies, the supervision that is required has to come largely from departmental officers. But even here, the ultimate aim should be to entrust the work of supervision as far as possible to non-official agency where this is available, preferably to persons chosen by the societies themselves, either individually or in groups or federations.

A scheme of non-official supervision is more likely to succeed if associated with the work of propaganda and advice than if it were based on the idea of superior status and outside control. In order to achieve this object, it is recommended that active steps be taken to form local associations representative of the co-operative societies in every District. If the Provincial Co-operative Institute is reconstituted and placed on an efficient footing, these local associations may well function as branches of the Institute.

Non-official Supervision through local associations.

It is in the interests of sound management to have the constitution, working and financial condition of societies thoroughly overhauled at regular intervals of not less than five years. It is particularly desirable that a periodical inspection of each Central financing bank should be made by the Registrar.

Inspection.

The adoption of various precautionary measures against frauds and irregularities in societies is suggested.

Precautions against mis-conduct, etc.

Any serious attempt at the improvement of co-operative societies must include a proper organization for giving suitable training, as well to the office-bearers of societies, as to the Inspectors, Auditors and Assistant Registrars of the Co-operative Department. The present arrangements for instruction and training are inadequate.

Education and Training.

There is a real necessity for the establishment of a Central Co-operative School at Bangalore. Its control must necessarily vest in Government, but may be exercised through the agency of a small Committee nominated by Government and including non-official representatives of the Co-operative movement as well as the heads of the Departments of Finance, Agriculture, Industries and Co-operation. Detailed suggestions are made regarding courses, subjects of study, examinations, appointment of qualified persons, etc. Occasional classes for short periods may be held in District headquarters and in Normal Schools.

Need for a Central School.

The cost of the Central Co-operative School and of the occasional classes will have to be met partly (and in the earlier years for the larger part) by a Government grant, and partly by a contribution from societies not exceeding five per cent of their net profits, according to resources.

Cost.

Co-operation may be dealt with as part of Civics in High Schools, and lessons illustrative of its benefits included in the text books in Middle Schools. The subject should have a more prominent place in the teaching of Economics in Colleges as well as in the University curriculum. Co-operative Law, Finance and Practice should be included among the subjects for Local Service and Pleaders' Examinations, and an examination in that subject made compulsory for certified auditors.

Teaching of Co-operation.

CHAPTER X.

CORRECTIVE FUNCTIONS.

The introduction of an intermediate stage of "winding up" (as in Burma and Bombay), prior to actual cancellation of registration, will remove certain anomalies, allow of a society being revived after its affairs are put in order, and obviate resort to compulsory liquidation.

Winding up prior to cancellation of registration.

The power of compulsory liquidation is not preventive, but punitive, and its employment should be postponed as far as possible till milder remedies have been tried and found ineffective. It should only be resorted to when all methods of recovering arrears—persuasive or coercive—are exhausted, and most of the outstanding debts are either bad or irrecoverable.

Compulsory liquidation.

The Regulation does not require notice to be given before registration is cancelled or winding up is ordered. A rule may be prescribed requiring two months' clear notice to be given to the society specifying the ground of the proposed order.

Notice prior to cancellation or winding up.

The orders of the liquidator in regard to the collection and distribution of assets have at present to be enforced by application to the Civil Court, with its attendant delays and difficulties. Provision may be made (as in Bombay and Madras) for the Enforcement of orders of liquidator.

summary recovery of members' debts under the liquidator's orders through execution by the Revenue Department in the same manner as arrears of land revenue.

Contributions in case of unlimited liability.

With a view to prevent abuse or misapplication of the discretion given to the liquidator to determine the contributions to be made by members, it is necessary to lay down by rule that any deficit should, after the full payment of shares, be recoverable by a series of per capita levies upon the members to the full extent of their property. This will equalize the individual burden at each levy, and so leave less discretion to the liquidator.

Agency for liquidation.

The services of suitable non-official gentlemen may be secured on payment of a commission of 5 per cent on realizations; otherwise, one of the Registrar's staff may be utilized.

Amendment of provisions regarding liquidation.

The law as contained in section 42 of the Regulation requires to be amended in certain respects.

Section 42 B should be extended to cover cases of apprehended disposal or removal of property after passing of the order and before it is sought to be put in execution.

Reference of dispute on default of action by Committee.

To provide for cases in which action to recover debts due is purposely delayed or not taken because the defaulter happens to be the Secretary himself or one of the other committee members or other influential person, the Registrar should have power to require the committee to make a reference within a specified time, and, on its failure to do so, to direct the Inspector or some other person nominated by him to make the reference.

Honorary Assistant Registrars.

The disposal of disputes would be materially helped if qualified persons were appointed as Honorary Assistant Registrars, at least one for each District and each important headquarter town, where such persons are available. Honorary Assistant Registrars may be given a moderate carriage allowance.

Fee for Arbitrators.

A panel of Arbitrators should be maintained for each District. Arbitrators should be paid, where necessary, a small fee for meeting incidental expenses, which need not exceed annas eight or rupee one per case. In exceptional circumstances, a higher fee may be specially allowed (including actual travelling expenses, if any).

Reference to Civil Courts.

The Registrar's discretion to refer a dispute to a Civil Court should be freely used where both parties desire it, or where the case involves complicated issues either of law or of adjustment of accounts on which the decision of a judicial tribunal would be desirable.

Limitation in relation to Co-operative disputes.

On the difficult question whether disputes under the Co-operative Societies Regulation are or are not governed by the articles in the Limitation Regulation applicable to suits, the Committee's conclusion is that,—subject to any special provisions in the Co-operative Societies Regulation, like sections 23 and 24,—the articles as to suits in general contained in the Limitation Regulation do apply to disputes.

Period to be extended.

In view of the special circumstances applicable, co-operative societies as such should have a longer period of limitation than that ordinarily available, within which to bring up disputes under the Co-operative Societies Regulation. A general provision doubling the usual period of limitation for suits (other than suits on hypothecation or mortgage) when brought by or on behalf of societies under the Co-operative Societies' Regulation seems reasonable and desirable. The benefit of the increased period, when enacted, should be given to disputes referred within a specified time after the enactment comes into operation.

The opportunity may also be taken to make it clear that, when a decision of the Registrar or of an arbitrator has to be referred to the Civil Court after the close of infructuous proceedings in the Revenue Department (as in cases coming under Section 187A of the Mysore Land Revenue Code), limitation should only begin to run after the termination of the Revenue proceedings and upon a formal reference by the Registrar to the Civil Court for execution. The starting point should be the date of issue of the sale certificate, and not that of the confirmation of sale.

Power to Registrar to recover dues.

The addition to the Mysore Co-operative Societies Regulation of a provision on the lines of section 57

Act, empowering the Registrar, without prejudice to any other mode of recovery provided, to recover all sums due under a decision, award or order or under a civil court decree, by the attachment and sale of the property of the person against whom it has been passed, will be most useful, and tend to make execution more effective in many cases.

Power to initiate execution in default of action by Committee.

In cases where the managing committee of a society takes no action to put the decision or award in execution, or delays action owing to reluctance to proceed against an influential member or for other reason, the Registrar should take the necessary steps on his own initiative.

Choice of mode of execution.

Section 43C (i) does not expressly state that the party seeking execution has a choice in the selection of the mode of execution. The point may be made clear.

Execution through Revenue Department.

Better results in the matter of the execution of co-operative decisions through the Revenue Department can only be attained by the exercise of adequate control over the work of the agency (ordinary and special) entrusted with execution work, and by close co-operation between that agency and the committees of the societies which hold the decrees for execution.

Alternatives considered.

A wholesale transfer of the work to the Co-operative Department is not necessary or practicable at the present stage, in view of the large addition to staff and heavy charges of execution that would be entailed. The general transfer of execution work to the Civil Courts is not likely to result in greater expedition or in the reduction of cost to parties. Execution may ordinarily remain with the Revenue Department, but the higher Revenue Officers should interest themselves much more closely and actively in the progress and speeding up of the work.

Special Recovery Staff.

At the same time, the quantity of execution work of all kinds that has to be done seems to justify the immediate employment of a special staff of Revenue Inspectors solely for such work in some, if not all, of the districts. One Special Inspector may be entertained for one or more taluks according to the quantity of the work. It may be eventually necessary to have a specialized agency for each district solely concerned with the recovery of societies' dues and wholly paid out of the fees levied, and to place it under the charge of a Special Officer of the grade of an Amildar.

A scheme for the appointment of Special Recovery Officers, as in Madras and Bombay, may be tried in Mysore, the staff being at first on a temporary basis; if it be found to be self-supporting, as well as permanently useful and effective for its main purpose, the question of its further continuance may be considered in the light of such experience.

Transmission of Decree.

Much avoidable time is now taken up in the transmission of co-operative decrees through the regular channels to the Revenue Inspector. There is no reason why a decision should not be sent direct from the Co-operative Department to the Amildar of the Taluk where it is to be executed.

Contact between Society and Revenue Agency.

The Secretary of the society concerned should take the initiative in applying to the Amildar for execution, with all necessary particulars as regards the defaulter and his assets.

It is important that societies should have adequate contact with the proceedings in execution, and that they should invariably be consulted before action affecting their interests is taken, such as the grant of time to the debtor or the cancellation of a sale. The special Revenue Inspectors are expected to give due intimation to societies before taking action. The Secretary of the society should also keep in touch with the Revenue Inspector during the course of execution proceedings.

Possession of property sold in execution.

The purchaser of property at a revenue sale in execution of a co-operative decree should be placed on the same level as to obtaining possession, as a purchaser of an occupancy or alienated holding under a sale for land revenue arrears. It will be open to any person claiming in good faith to be in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the judgment-debtor to seek redress from the Civil Courts.

An alteration of the law on the above lines is very necessary, and may be effected at an early date.

Purchase by Societies.

The purchase of lands by co-operative societies in execution should only be made sparingly and as a last resort. Where, owing to combination or other reason, proper bids cannot be had, societies may have to make their own bids; but they should not be compelled to offer more than what they themselves consider reasonable.

Attachments after decision.

Sub-section (4) of section 43-A empowers the Registrar to direct a conditional attachment of property prior to decision. Such a power may advantageously be extended to cases of apprehended alienations by defaulters in the interval between the passing of the decision and the actual initiation of execution proceedings.

The Land Revenue Code should be amended so as to provide for the attachment of immovable property sought to be proceeded against for the realization of societies' dues.

Voluntary payments.

When a judgment-debtor voluntarily deposits the decreed amount subsequent to the initiation of execution proceedings, he need not be required to pay the usual percentage contribution towards costs, in cases where execution has not actually been set on foot and no cost has therefore been incurred.

Attachment of salaries.

Where there are more decrees than one requiring execution against the same official, the head of the office concerned must be required to make rateable distribution of the permissible amount among all the decrees.

Apart from cases where decrees have been obtained, heads of offices may well co-operate in making periodical recoveries from the salaries of employees who have agreed in writing to this mode of discharging loans contracted from societies.

Prosecutions and Suits.

In order to protect office-bearers of societies from unnecessary harassment, the Registrar should be given an opportunity to examine all cases of alleged misconduct on the part of members of managing committees, before criminal prosecutions are launched.

Similarly, in cases of civil liability, not falling within the definition of a dispute, it must be made obligatory to serve a notice on the Registrar at least two months before filing a suit against a society or its managing committee, so as to give the Registrar sufficient opportunity to look into the matter and save the society from unnecessary litigation.

CHAPTER XI.

GUIDANCE AND CONTROL.

Ultimate goal.

Subject to the considerations that the ultimate goal is the development of a genuinely co-operative self-contained organization, and that a certain measure of external supervision and control is indispensable for the safety and steady progress of the movement, the aim should be as far as possible to popularise the movement as a whole, and to promote a sense of responsibility among the members of societies. Official control should be slackened wherever possible.

Honorary Agents.

It is desirable to revive the scheme of Honorary Organizers on improved lines as soon as financial conditions will permit.

Provincial Co-operative Institute.

The Mysore Co-operative Institute may be reconstituted on a more satisfactory basis, with well defined objects which will be carried out continuously through the year, and with a sufficiency of funds made up partly by an enhanced Government grant but mainly by contributions from societies in the State according to their working capital or net profits or other recognized basis of computation. The management must be vested in a Board representing all the main types of co-operative activities and interests in the State, and including a few members (not necessarily officials) nominated by Government and connected with important branches of business or industry

In addition to the Provincial Co-operative Conference at the Capital, District and Taluk Conferences may also with advantage be held occasionally. Periodical Conferences.

It is desirable that the Registrar should at least once a year arrange for a periodical Conference, attended by selected officials of the Department and by non-officials interested in the working of co-operative bodies, for the discussion of important matters connected with the movement.

Urban institutions should be encouraged and helped to hold special Conferences (either separately or as sections of the Provincial Conference); so also house-building, stores and other special types of societies.

Both official and honorary workers should be encouraged to study co-operative developments in other parts of the country. Study.

The Registrar should control the supply of outside loans and keep a watch over the large sums deposited by the public. The maximum borrowings of all classes of societies and the adoption of the ruling rates of interest should be under his general control. The Registrar must remain responsible for the control of audit until the movement is strong enough to arrange for an independent audit system which will command general confidence. The Registrar should have power to revise an award or order of an arbitrator in order to rectify obvious errors resulting in injustice or hardship. Powers and duties of Registrar.

Suggestions are made regarding the qualifications, status and training of officers selected as Registrar, and Deputy and Assistant Registrars.

Having regard to the heavy and growing work of the Registrar's Office, it will be desirable to depute one of the Assistant Registrars exclusively to help the Registrar in that work. Superior Controlling Staff.

It will be desirable to have a separate branch of the Department, under the Deputy Registrar, to deal with the agricultural, industrial and other non-credit sides of Co-operation, which have not been sufficiently developed, as well as with the Land Mortgage scheme.

As it will not be possible for the remaining officers to look after the district work satisfactorily, it will be necessary to increase their number by two, on the view that about 300 societies form an adequate charge for a Divisional Officer.

There may ordinarily be two grades of Assistant Registrars, one on Rs. 150—25/2—250 (the same as for Amildars), and another on Rs. 250-40/2-450 (as for Assistant Commissioners) promotion to which should be by special selection only. The Deputy Registrar may be given the same grade as a Senior Assistant Commissioner, namely, Rs. 500—50/2—600.

Men who are markedly inefficient or have no aptitude for co-operative work should be weeded out by retirement or by transfer to other duties. Recruitment should hereafter be confined to graduates, preferably those who have taken up Economics as their subject, and have had training in Book-keeping and Auditing. Selected candidates must undergo training in Co-operative Law, Finance and Practice. Every Inspector should be able to do audit work as part of his duties. Subordinate Controlling Staff.

About 35 to 40 societies is the largest number a single Inspector can efficiently attend to. On this basis, it will be necessary to increase the number of Circle Inspectors from 42 to about 55.

It will be desirable to have, in addition, one Inspector for each Assistant Registrar's charge who will be concerned mainly with liquidation, statutory enquiries, and other special duties entrusted to him.

Inspectors may be in two grades, one on Rs. 40 rising by annual increments of Rs. 5 to Rs. 75; and another rising from Rs. 80 to Rs. 125 by annual increments of Rs. 5. The number of men in each grade should be so fixed as to allow of a fairly free flow of promotion.

The stamp of men at present employed as Supervisors is [illegible] Selections should be made from men who have passed a qualifying examination. There should be scope for the appointment of exceptional men among Supervisors as Inspectors.

Co-ordination between Departments.

Co-ordination between the Departments of Co-operation, Agriculture and Industries is absolutely essential if the full benefits of the activities of these Departments are to be available to the people at large. This will be greatly facilitated by the formation of a Committee consisting of the Heads of the Departments mentioned and presided over by a Member of Council.

Expert Advice.

Substantial progress in non-credit forms of co-operation can only be secured if expert advice is liberally given, whether directly by the technical Department concerned, or through the loan of technical officers to the Co-operative Department.

Support and sympathy of District Officers.

The active support and sympathy of local revenue officers will be more largely secured by their being given a place on local associations or branches of the Provincial Co-operative Institute.

Non-official opinion.

No important change of policy should be embarked upon without consultation with responsible non-official opinion. As one means of making such opinion always available when required, the Committee supports the suggestion made for the formation of an Advisory Committee—at first wholly nominated—consisting of representatives of different types of co-operative activity, of banking and commercial business, and of law. Such a Committee should be of special help in connection with the framing and alteration of rules, by-laws and forms of accounts.

Increased representation to the Co-operative movement.

The proposal that representation on the Legislative Council and increased representation on the Representative Assembly should be given to the co-operative movement is commended for favourable consideration.

Participation by Government servants.

The restriction recently imposed, by which Government officers and officials are required to obtain the previous sanction of Government (through their Departmental Heads) before even standing for election or re-election to committees of Central and urban societies, may be removed and the earlier rule reverted to.

RESOLUTION.

Tariffs.

The Report of the Special Tariff Board which was appointed on 10th September 1935 to investigate the adequacy of the protective duties applicable to cotton and artificial silk fabrics and to cotton yarns of British manufacture is published to-day for general information. The Government of India are impressed with the fairness and impartiality with which the Board has approached a most difficult problem and they accept without qualification the findings of the Board, namely :—

(a) that the duty on plain grey cotton piece-goods should be reduced from 25 per cent ad valorem or 4⅜ annas per lb., whichever is higher, to 20 per cent. ad valorem or 3½ annas per lb. whichever is higher ;

(b) that the duty on bordered grey, bleached and coloured piece-goods (other than prints) should be reduced to 20 per cent. ad valorem; and

(c) that the duty on cotton yarns should remain unchanged.

They agree also with the Board that in the absence of evidence as to the nature and extent of competition between imports from the United Kingdom of printed cotton goods and artificial silk manufactures and the products of the Indian Cotton Mills, no finding as to the adequacy of the existing duties on such imports is possible and they do not propose therefore to disturb the level of these duties.

2. It had been hoped that it would be possible, in accordance with the statement made by the Hon'ble the Commerce Member in the course of the debate on the 1934 Textile Protection Bill, to give effect to the recommendations of the Board shortly after the expiry of the Mody-Clare Lees Agreement on which the existing duties were based. Unexpected difficulties, however, delayed the submission of the Report and the Government of India have therefore decided to give immediate effect to the recommendations of the Board by a notification under Section 4 (1) of the Indian Tariff Act which issues to-day.

3. In taking the decision outlined above the Government of India have given the fullest consideration to the possible reactions of the reduction of duties on customs revenue and the budgetary position. It has already become clear that with the continuance of the present uncertainty as to the future level of the cotton textile duties, the revenue from imports of British Cotton piece-goods must fall far short of the amount included in the current estimates. The interests of the revenue required an early termination of this uncertainty and the Government of India are satisfied not only that the yield of the duties at the present level will not be appreciably less in the current year than it would have been if the former duties had been continued but also that there is no reason to anticipate that in future years revenue will be deteriously affected.

Order :—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be communicated to all Local Governments and Administrations ; all Departments of the Government of India, the Director-General of Commercial Intelligence and Statistics ; the Central Board of Revenue ; the Indian Trade Commissioners, London, Hamburg and Milan ; the Secretary, Tariff Board ; the High Commissioner for India, London, His Majesty's Trade Commissioner in India ; The Canadian Trade Commissioner in India; all the Chambers of Commerce and Associations ; the French

Trade Commissioner in India, Burma and Ceylon; the Secretary, Imperial Council of Agricultural Research and the Chief Controller of Stores, Indian Stores Department.

Ordered also, that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Additional Secretary to the Government of India.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, MYSORE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, BANGALORE.

No. 2189, L.C., dated 30th November 1936.

Under Standing Order No. 49 of the Standing Orders for the conduct of business of the Mysore Legislative Council, the following report of the Select Committee on the Mysore Debt Conciliation Bill is published for general information.

A. SUNDARARAJA RAO,
Secretary,
Mysore Legislative Council.

Report of the Select Committee on the Debt Conciliation Bill.

We, the Members of the Select Committee to which the Debt Conciliation Bill was referred, have considered the several clauses of the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our report :—

Clause 2.—In sub-clause (e), after the word "Otherwise", the word "and" may be inserted.

It was suggested that in sub-clause (f), the word "or" may be replaced by "and"; but the majority of the Committee were of opinion that no such change was needed.

Clause 10.—We consider that sub-clause (3) need not be retained as a separate clause, but may be a proviso to sub-clause (2).

Clause 14.—We consider that the rights of a secured creditor should remain unaffected when he does not agree to the settlement and we therefore recommend that the following additional proviso be added to sub-clause (1) of this clause :—

> "Provided further that when a secured creditor does not agree to the settlement, such settlement shall not affect his rights to proceed against the secured property."

The other changes are more or less verbal.

As the changes recommended by us do not affect the principles of the bill, we recommend that the bill as amended need not be published in the Gazette.

Sd. S. P. Rajagopalachari (Chairman)
" K. V. Anantaraman
" B. T. Kesavaiengar
" S. Abdul Wajid
" M. G. Mekhri
" K. R. Srinivasaiengar (Subject to a dissenting note)
" J. Mahomed Imam
" K. T. Bhashyam Aiyangar
" C. Hayavadana Rao

(Messrs. A. R. Nagesvara Aiyar and P. Subbarama Chetty were unable to be present at the meeting. Mr. H. B. Gundappa has not intimated his approval of the Report.)

Dissenting Note.

In clause 2 (f) of the Bill, the word debtor is defined as meaning a person

(i) who earns his livelihood mainly by agriculture or who is a holder, whether he cultivates the land personally or otherwise, and

(ii) whose debts exceed one hundred rupees.

The object of the Bill as stated in the preamble is "to relieve agriculturists from indebtedness" and the statement of objects and reasons attached to the Bill makes it clear that "the measure applies to agriculturists who earn their living mainly by agriculture." But the use of the alternative word "or" italicised by me above in sub-clause (i) will make the Bill applicable not only to persons whose main profession is agriculture but also to any holder of land, however small his holding, and whether he makes his living mainly by agriculture or not. With this definition of "debtor," any banker, trader, contractor or Government Officer having debts to the extent of several thousands or lakhs of rupees may have himself brought within the definition by purchasing a few guntas of land and getting himself registered as the holder thereof and may claim to have the provisions of the Bill applied to him. As I have pointed out above, the Bill was not intended to apply to such cases; and I do not consider either necessary or desirable to have such cases brought within the purview of the Bill. I would therefore suggest that the "or" may be replaced by "and"; or, if it is intended (which I doubt very much) that the Bill should be applicable also to agricultural labourers who do not hold lands, the words "and includes" may be substitute for "or who" in sub-clause (i) quoted above.

2. I am of opinion that besides fixing a minimum limit for the debts, which may be dealt with under the Bill, it is very desirable to prescribe also a maximum limit, which I think may be fixed at Rs. 10,000. This may be done by the addition of the words "and does not exceed Rs. 10,000" at the end of sub-clause (ii) quoted above.

K. R. Srinivasa Iyengar.
